

Provisional Ballots

There are many reasons why voters may cast a provisional ballot, and they can be divided into three categories:

1. Registration-based:

- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not on the voter rolls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not registered).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not on the voter rolls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not registered).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not on the voter rolls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not registered).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not on the voter rolls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not registered).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not on the voter rolls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not registered).

2. Jurisdiction-based:

- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).

3. Voting-based:

- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).
- Provisional ballots are cast by voters who are not at the polls in their jurisdiction (i.e., they are not at the polls in their jurisdiction).

Why are provisional ballots rejected?

A provisional ballot is rejected if the voter is not registered in the jurisdiction, is not at the polls in the jurisdiction, or is not at the polls in the jurisdiction.

Provisional ballots are rejected if the voter is not registered in the jurisdiction, is not at the polls in the jurisdiction, or is not at the polls in the jurisdiction.

Provisional ballots are rejected if the voter is not registered in the jurisdiction, is not at the polls in the jurisdiction, or is not at the polls in the jurisdiction.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

What have states done to minimize the number of rejected provisional ballots?

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. B is not a valid ballot. B is not a valid ballot. B is not a valid ballot.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

I voted using a provisional ballot. What do I do now?

As you can see, the provisional ballot is not counted if it is not marked correctly. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot. D is not a valid ballot.

[L M C C .S.E E S A M S S]